Forum searches and getting it optimized..

2006-08-05 22:07:55 by hitwalker

Some may have noticed and others might not..
But raven installed a great extra search function that will allow the visitor / member to do a specific search an a subject.
This is not to make it easier on us (the support) but its a way to find your answers even faster...
This extra search function only has some value if you keep your topic well described and to the point...
In this way everybody benefits from your input.

Using this function is very easy..
Simply go to :http://ravenphpscripts.com/forum-search.html

At Search Options you see the following 3 choices:

Search topic title and message text
Search message text only
Search title only

Well...the "Search title only"is the new one...
Just try it out and you will see its very usefull...The thanks goes to Hitwalker for "nagging" me :rotfl: - Not really. He convinced me of the error of my ways :wink: - Thanks!

https://www.ravenphpscripts.com/modules.php?name=News&file=article&sid=2295